

I am writing to urge the FCC to allow wireless number portability for cellular phones. Portability would increase competition, which would result in better service, more features, and lower rates.